DOMESTIC WATCH 29 JULY

Penny Steyn will be conducting her July domestic training session on 29 JULY at 10:00 at GEORGE LEA PARK.

The subject will be “Child Abuse & Child Protection”.

Penny held a bosberaad on Saturday as a part of the 67 minute Mandela Day celebration. It was fitting as it was a planning session with all community co-ordinators to prepare for the Annual Recognition event to celebrate the domestics monthly session attendance.

By the way, we are hoping to find a “champion” to take on the organising of the Parkmore Domestic Watch group - training sessions on the last Wednesday of each month and the Year-end function during November.

Remember that Dr Zinn's prisoner interviews tells us that 77% of house break-ins are based on the criminals obtaining information from gardeners and domestics.

These MAD sessions train the domestics and gardeners how to deal with and react to criminals picking their brains for facts about when you leave and come home, what TV you have, when is his/her day off, etc.

The PCA supports Penny Steyn's Domestic training.

Get It magazine July 2009 edition reports on a “charming, witty and delightful, new SA chick-lit book, Trinity Rising” written by a Parkmore resident - isn't it wonderful to find such talent in our suburb. Fantastic Fiona

COMMUNITY MEETING

WINTER WARMER

30 JULY Thursday COMMUNITY GET-TOGETHER

- ❖ the Hottest anti-hijacking authoritative advice
- ❖ Key Updates on all Community projects
- ❖ Heart-warming news about the suburb
- ❖ Sizzling specials from Parkmore businesses
- ❖ A red-hot selection of local artworks
- ❖ Secure parking provided by Protea Coin
- ❖ Parkmore Author, Fiona Snyckers will be signing her new book when bought by you
- ❖ Steaming mugs of decadent hot chocolate and coffee and muffins
- ❖ and a LUCKY DRAW for mystery prizes ...

There is one aspect of this meeting we will work hard to achieve - that it should be fun, constructive, and add value to the way forward in Parkmore.

Traditionally a public meeting has had residents making their point from the floor. While this may have released some people's stress, it did not achieve consensus amongst those present, and often did not provide the PCA with a clear message to facilitate a strategy and/or goals going forward.

At this Get-Together the PCA Portfolio heads will meet you personally at designated tables after the main meeting agenda is completed. Your issues will be written down. This will ensure that the PCA can handle each person's point with the attention it deserves.
